

I feel that the ability to selectively listen to VoIP calls is necessary in today's society for security purposes only. The concern that I have is how is it going to be regulated, and feel that the regulation guidelines be more descriptive (i.e. less loopholes) and and restrictive.